

Durres city tour & the COGNAC FACTORY “Gjergj Kastrioti Skenderbeu”

We begin our journey with the remains of the old city walls of Durres.

“The eternal city” over the Adriatic has a 3,000-year history, its founding dating back to 627 B.C.E. when the Corinthians and settlers from the ancient Greek city of Corcyra, situated in the island of Corfu, invaded the Illyrian territory of the Taulantii people.

Because of its long history, the city is naturally brimming with ancient archaeological sites and findings, including the famous amphitheater of the Roman Emperor Hadrian, whose 15,000-seats capacity makes it the second biggest amphitheater in the Balkans.
