

Vlora – Llogara- Palasa Beach

(Fun in the Ionian sea-sun)

- After breakfast, we will travel up to the National Park of Llogara. The park has been established in the seventies and has always been a popular vacation spot for locals and tourists alike.
- The Llogara Pass is a high mountain pass on the Ceraunian Mountains connecting the Dukat Valley in the north with the coastal region of Himara on the southern side. It has an elevation over 1.000 meters. The Caesar's Pass named after Julius Caesar whom arches down near the area in pursuit of Pompey is also located near Llogara Pass.
- Our lunch stop (optional) at a local restaurant with traditional Albanian cuisine will offer spectacular views of the mountains and the Ionian Albanian Riviera below.
- We will travel down these amazing mountains and will visit a first beach on the Ionian Sea, Palasa beach. There you will spend some time enjoying the sandy beach and the clear water. After some swimming and relaxing time there we will return to the hotel in Vlora.
